Vanna Section Speaks 1988 Pearson the dialectic of essence offers a systematic new account of plato s metaphysics allan silverman argues that the best way to make sense of the metaphysics as a whole is to examine carefully what plato says about ousia essence from the meno through the middle period dialogues

the Phaedo and the Republic and into several late dialogues including the Parmenides, the Sophist, the Philebus and the Timaeus. This book focuses on three fundamental facets of the metaphysics: the theory of forms, the nature of particulars, and Plato's understanding of the nature of metaphysical inquiry. Silverman seeks to show how Plato conceives of being as a unique way in which an essence is related to a form, conversely partaking having. Answers is the way in which a material particular is related to its properties; particulars thus in an important sense lack essence. Additionally, the author closely analyzes Plato's idea that the relation between forms and particulars is mediated by form-copies, even when some late dialogues provide a richer account of particulars. Silverman maintains that particulars are still denied essence, indeed, with the Timaeus's introduction of the receptacle, there are no particulars of the traditional variety. This book cogently demonstrates that when we understand that Plato's concern with essence lies at the root of his metaphysics, we are better equipped to find our way through the labyrinth of his dialogues and to better appreciate how they form a coherent theory.

Essays on Answers Plato's Psychology 2001 Section: what is love? why do we idealize those whom we love? how do we choose whom to love? are some kinds of love better than others? Each age returns to these questions with renewed perplexity. Gerasimos Santas examines the two greatest theoretical architectures of love side by side. It provides a thorough critical description and comparison of these theories, allowing a sophisticated dialogue to emerge between the two thinkers. In the first half of the book, Professor Santas reconstructs and explains Plato's theories of eros and philia, erotic love, familial love, and friendship. He attempts to show that Plato's was a unified theory in which erotic love has a special connection with creativity and beauty. He then discusses Freud's notion of love as distinct from, though based on, his general theory of sexuality. He discusses in detail Freud's explanations before and after narcissism, of idealization and choice of beloved. Freud, too, it emerges, had a unified theory of love: all love has its origins in the libidinal instincts of infancy and childhood. The book concludes by showing that despite Freud's claim that his theory of love is Platonic, the two theories are instructively different.
